

Joint Staff Briefing

All Wales Review of NHS Laundries

Date: 15th August 2017

Hello!

Welcome to the latest edition in a series of joint briefings to all NHS Wales laundry staff.

It is a joint briefing produced by both NHS Wales Shared Services Partnership (NWSSP) and our trade union partners.

Who are NWSSP?

NWSSP is a hosted organisation delivering a range of services to Health Boards and Trusts that support and share best practice in the NHS in Wales.

Who are our trade union partners?

We are closely engaged with representatives from UNISON, UNITE and GMB who are continually provided with updates and briefings from the project board.

Why is there a review?

There are three key objectives to this review:

- The first key objective to look at our existing five laundry sites in Wales and review their current condition and performance.
- The second key objective is to see if there are any gaps which would prevent our laundry services achieving and complying with the new standard for Linen Services which we must comply with. You will see much more of this new standard, called BS14065, in the future. The Welsh Government issued new guidance in February 2017 which is why this review is so timely.
- The third key objective is to consider any recommendations, based on evidence from this review, to ensure laundry services are sustainable and fit for purpose in the future. Recommendations will be discussed in partnership with laundry staff and trade union representatives.

Timelines

In the previous briefing you may recall we advised that throughout June and July we will need to visit each laundry to complete a conditions appraisal. This will look at each laundry's current condition and performance and whether they are capable of achieving the new standard BS14065.

This part of the process has been completed successfully and we would like to thank you for your ongoing support and help in making this process as seamless and informed as possible.

The next step of the process will see NWSSP put together a business case in the Autumn of 2017 outlining any improvements or recommendations necessary.

The project and consultant team will also continue to make every effort to keep everyone informed throughout the remainder of the process.

Communications

In partnership, we hope to give you regular joint updates as and when we have news for you.

In addition NWSSP have set up a dedicated section on their Intranet site which you can access via Laundry Information Webpage

We fully understand that many laundry staff do not have direct or timely access to computers to access this information, so there will be an expectation that local managers will make this information, especially FAQs, diary and project updates available in hard copy on noticeboards and rest room areas.

If you require any further information in relation to the visits to each laundry site or you have any general queries in relation to the project review then please contact your Laundry Manager or your Trade Union partner.
